

The Beautiful Birds of Kalgoorlie

Sunday October 26th 2014, 7:45am
Karkurla Park

Bird surveys are being conducted by volunteers throughout the Great Western Woodlands (an area covering much of the Goldfields region) with the objective of finding out what birds live where.

Help us discover what the birds are up to this winter by joining us for a bird walk in Karkurla Bushland Park, situated near Kalgoorlie, the biggest city in the region.

This is a great way to get to know your local birds and be involved in important research.

Meet at 7:45 am for an 8:00 am start in Karkurla Park at the main car park (off Paddington Drive) for a Spring season bird walk in the park, followed by morning tea.

No prior bird-watching skills required. BYO binoculars. Morning tea provided.
